I grant permission to the camp director, assistants, or champions of this camp to act on my behalf for and enter in granting permission for participation/entrance for other standard problems. I understand that should a major medical problem arise, an attempt will be made to notify me by telephone. In the event that I cannot be reached, liability goes over to each medical treatment or personal assistance by a licensed physician, such as x-rays and specialists to be rendered to said minor. In addition, I hereby release the Rutherford County Sheriff's Department and School System and all of its employees and the Rutherford Wrestling Club from all claims on account of any injuries that may be rendered by any one while attending Sheriff's Wrestling Tech Camp. I also agree to indemnify the Rutherford County Sheriff's Department and School System and all of its employees and the Rutherford Wrestling Club for any claims, which may hereafter be presented to any minor (or as a result of any such injury).

Camp Goals

This clinic has been designed by Coach Schalles especially for our wrestler's to reflect his reverse instruction and terminal approach to learning that wrestling programs all across America are rushing to adopt. It's this kind of creative methodology that has made Coach Schalles the most sought after clinician in the country and why we're so fortunate to have him in Murfreesboro.

Ages

Camp is open to all age groups.

Testimonial

I've watched Coach Schalles before and he has a way of reducing the sport to its simplest form which is; "to score more points than your opponent." For the entire week each of our wrestlers will not only learn takedowns, offensive and defensive, and reversals plus escapes but how to acquire bonus points from each technique

Staff

Wade Schalles - One of the most exciting and spectacular athletes of his time, Wade Schalles would wrestle anyone, anytime, anywhere, at any weight from 150 to 180 pounds, with odds of 2 to 1 that he would win by a fall. Nor was he particular about the style. Schalles was a national champion, or an All-American, in folkstyle, Freestyle and Greco-Roman, and in the allied disciplines of sombo and judo. He earned a place in the Guinness Book of World Records as wrestling's all-time leader in victories with 821, and in falls with 530. Schalles also was renowned for defeating 36 national champions, pinning 17 of them, and defeating eight World titlists. Each total is considered a record. His collegiate career at Clarion University was limited by an unusual NCAA rule which barred freshman competitors from the national tournament not only for their freshman year, but also as seniors. Eligible only for the 1972 and '73 meets, he won both Division II and Division I twice, and was outstanding wrestler of both events as a sophomore. Schalles compiled a collegiate record of 153-5-1, and amassed a staggering 106 falls. He won a gold medal in the 1977 World University Games, pinning all six opponents, and another in the Tbilisi International. He is known for creating and perfecting a radically different pinning hold which he named the "spladle." It best demonstrates the limber physique which prompted one writer to call him "Plastic Man." He is an author, a clinician and a top-flight collegiate referee. Because of his unique style, his emphasis on the fall, and for blending those elements into great success, Stephen Wade Schalles is honored as a Distinguished Member of the National Wrestling Hall of Fame.
